THE FEATURES BROUGHT OUT

By Major Hartmann and M. Lamotte Were Very Convincing-Friends of the Prisoner say That he Will Undoubtedly be Acquitted - General Roget Catches a Tarter.

RENNES, Sept. 3 .- Elation is the only word that expresses the feelings of the Dreyfusards after Saturday's proceed-The tide has turned at last, they say, and Dreyfus cannot be condemned after the evidence given Sat-urday morning. The spirits of the Dreyfusards are quite mercurial. Every day since the opening of the trial has seen them rise or fall. Recently they have been falling heavily, the of the morning sessions generally finding them in anxlous conversation, accompanied by ominious shaking of their heads. Yesterday's buoyancy, therefore, is all the more noteworthy. Friday was a fairly good day, but yesterday's session, they claim, puts the verdict out of doubt, and the judges must acquit Dreyfus.

among the anti-Dreyfusites and those who have closely noted the evidence before the court martial, and who are believed to be well-informed upon subject, that the judges are against Dreyfus, and that their verdict will be guilty by a vote of 5 to 2.

Major Hartmann, of the artillery, occupied nearly half the session with the conclusion of his expert evidence that Dreyfus, as an artillery oncer, would concussion or an experievidence that Dreyfus, as an artillery effect, would not have displayed such ignorance re-garding guns and brakes as was shown in the bordereau, while the other sub-jects of the bordereau were matters upon which any official could inform himself.

Major Hartmann's testimony practically stood uncontested, as neither General Deloye nor General Mercler, who replied, refuted any material point

M. Havel, a member of the institute. then entered upon the gradimatical as-pect of the bordereau, and in vigorous but elegant language devoted himself to showing that the construction of the borderan bri tled with sixo g and, in his opinion, conclusive marks of Esterhazy's handiwork, while the phraseology bore no resemblance to Dreyfus'

The next stage of the proceedings was the reading of the Gome-Picquart correspondence exchanged at the time Colonal Picquart suspected Esterhazy, and wanted General Gonse to probe the matter to the bottom. This brought M. about to the front, and in a series of qualities he brought out snarply before the court the machinations of which Colonel Picquart was the victim at the hands of the major from the moment e showed a desire to thoroughly sift the matter.

Labori for the first time got General Gonse to admit that he ordered tempering with Picquart's letters order, as he said, to ascertain Picthe intelligence bureau. A little later irst, he recalled the fact that a circular was sent to the probationers May 14, 1894, informing them that they must not go to the manoeuvers, thus showing that the man who wrote the bordereau in August, and said: "I am going to the manoeuvres could not be

The witness then pointed out that none of the ministers, who, he believed, acted in good faith, were informed of the existence of the circular, which, he declared, "I consider a vital point in "This circular," he continchatters the prosecution, because after May 17 Dreyfus could not say 'I am going to the manocuvres,' for then he knew he would not, while prior to May 17 he could not have known the five documents comprised in the bordereau."

M. De Fand Lamotte then brought out another strong point. Alluding to cerning the troops, he said the writer of the bordereau used the term "new

"Now," said the witness, "It has been impressed upon you that on October 15 a circular was sent out from the war ministry containing these words, and that, therefore, the writer of the bordereau must have been an officer of the ministry. But one thing has struck me ho sent out that circular? It was third bureau, the chief of which was Lieutenant Colonel Du Paty de m, who had the bordereau in his hands for the previous twenty days. M. De Fond Lamotte by this intended to show that Du Paty de Clam purposely used the words "new plan" in the circular order by what the witness described as "arguing in a vicious cirele to back up his contention that an officer of the ministry wrote the bordereau, and that the officer was Drev-

General Roget then rose to reply to M. de Fond Lamotte, but found he had caught a tartar. 'He did not succeed in shaking the witness' testimony, while M. de Fond Lamotte took the unprecedented course of questioning Gen Roget, and getting the better of him once or twice.

The two men stood exchanging heated arguments, totally ignorant of Colonel Jouaust, who was twice obliged to ask them not to speak at each other and to General Roget especially was excited, particularly when he found that he was making no impression on his opponent, who, on the contrary, scored off him. Roget was unused to this treatment, as hitherto he has had his own way and been allowed to bully the witnesses.

Finally, on Roget declaring that Dreyfus might have written 'I am going to the manoeuvres,' because he could have asked special permission, which is invariably granted, M. De-mange asked him if there was any proof that Dreyfus did ask such permission. To this, Roget replied: don't know; no trace has been found of his application." This answer brought a chorus of "ohs" from the audience, because had Dreyfus asked traces would easily have been forthcoming.

Roget then said that Dreyfus might have asked verbally, in which case no trace of his application could be found. "Quite so," rejoined M. Demange, "but the head of the bureau would be asked whether any such request was

This practically ended the session, which was one of the most interesting, and undeniably the most favorable to Dreyfus, yet held. The military wit-nesses followed the evidence with all eyes and ears, exchanging confidences, which judging from the expressions on their faces, were evidently far from Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made and that too, by a lady in this country. "Discase fastened its clutches upon her and for seven Fears she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dote, that she glept all night; and with two bottless has peen absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnlick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Logan Drug Co.'s drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. The Features of the Money and Stock Markets. NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The stock market was extremely dull throughout the day's short session, and net changes extended beyond fractions only in rare instances. As the bears had sold the bank statement the evening up of their contracts when it appeared closely conforming to estimates, created a demand which railled the market from earlier depression, and brought prices icire, while he was chief of in most cases above yesterday's level.

in most cases above yesterday's level. The fact that Monday is a holiday had be Labori evidently disconcerted General Gonse, for the latter blurted out that Lieutenant Colonel Henry committed his forgery in order is have fresh proofs against Droyfus. The audience smiled audibity at this explanation. General Gonse then added: "But it was unnecessary, since the diplomatic dosier contained incriminating documents, with 'Dreyfus' written in full."

General Gonse apparently meant the Panizzardi dispatch, which has already been ruled out of court. M. Labori protested indignantly, exclaiming: "There are no such documents," and then asked General Gonse to enumerate the documents to which he alluded.

Colonel Jouaust, president of the court martial, declined to put the question, whereupon M. Labori said he reserved to himself the right to submit a formal application for these documents.

Then came the leading witness of the day, M. De Fond Lamotte, a probationer contemporaneously with Dreyfus, who is now a civil engineer, and so has reason to fear the wrath of the military clique. The witness opened by declaring that despite the fact that he had a brother in the gartison at Rentre the contentment of the mass of Dreyfus, and which, according to the dicates the contentment of the mass of Dreyfus, and which, according to the dicates the contentment of the mass of dicates the contentment of the mass of the table of the speculative profit taking, and the realising going on the short interest in some of the industrial swas sensitive to the upward the military clique. The various professional manocures were the surface indications of the culmination of the recent hull movement, and the market them and straubility of the recent hull movement, and the market them and straubility of the shore of the s rate for money here would induce ship-ments of gold to New York. The gov-ernment's revenues are running far ahead of last year's corresponding per-iod, and the outgo is much less. Had it not been for the leaving on deposit with the national city bank of the $4,000,000 paid by that bank for the old custom house and site in New York, the New York money market would likely have been seriously pinched this

CHICAGO-Corn was again the big market on the board of trade to-day Fears of damage from the long-continued hot, dry weather drove September markets were inclined toward a lower level and northwest receipts were much more liberal than a week ago. Minneapoils in addition wired that receipts by Tuesday, the next session on change, would probably reach 2,000, which added materially to the bearishness of the situation, though it did not have any effect at first. A wild spurt took place in corn shortly after the opening. The advance in that grain was so rapid that for the time being it took wheat shorts off their feet and sent prices up about 4sc for September and about 3sc for December. While the influence of the corn firmness lasted there was considerable activity in wheat, but when realizings set in in the coarser grain and prices begun to cause off wheat readily followed. The influence of the heavy expected northwest receipts then began to be felt. Heavy shorts, who had held aloof from the market during the early spurt, came the market grew strong on the leasy decreases in stocks, notably that of ribs over 19,00,000 pounds. Packers and outsiders were good buvers late in the session and praces advanced slightly all round, the market closing firm. October pork closed 2½ higher at $8 25, October lard a shade higher at $5 224. October ribs a shade higher at $5 224.
